

Terms and Conditions:

Camp Zoomer is a not-for-profit camp created to provide a Torah based program of learning and fun. By registering your child in this program you accept and certify the following:

Your child's information is correct, truthful, and up to date.

Your child is committed to participate in the camp offerings in an appropriate fashion: He/She will be dressed appropriately, and will act with courtesy and proper middos towards staff and other campers.

Licensed Users:

All links to content and all content shall be used only by the camper who is registered for that activity or course. This information and content will not be shared with others (even siblings) without express permission from the camp administration.

Internet Safety:

Using Internet-based programming can be a rewarding and positive experience. However, the Internet presents many dangers and challenges. Parents will monitor the child's usage and interactions. Parents will monitor the Internet connection and assure that it is properly filtered. Parents will report any concerning content or encounters which are a result of the use of this platform.

For students that sign up for coding: You will be using a coding platform called code.org. We will create an account with your child's name.

Safety:

Some activities such as cooking, woodworking, science and others, may involve an element of danger when the camper is not properly supervised or if instructions are not understood or followed. It is the parent's responsibility to supervise the child's activities and ensure that they are done safely so as to not cause harm or injury to people or property, such as clothing and surfaces. We will flag the activities that require extra vigilance in the course description.

Zoom rules:

All Zoom sessions will be held in the presenters' Zoom rooms. You will be admitted through a waiting room.

You will leave your video unmuted during sessions and keep your real name as your ID.

The camp administration reserves the right to change programming according to program needs. This includes reassigning campers to other activities when necessary.

The administration may also, at its discretion, cancel a camper's subscription with cause.

I have read the terms and conditions above and I agree to abide by them.

Release of Liability:

By signing this registration form, parents and camper acknowledge that they release Camp Zoomer, operators and service providers from any and all claims, demands and damages relating to any and all injuries and damages of any and every kind, to both person and property as a result of participation in the Camp Zoomer experience. This Release has been read and fully understood by the undersigned.
